

Fiber Optic Cable Laying Year

Overview

FOIRL (Fiber Optic Inter-Repeater Link) becomes the first standard fiber optic LAN (IEEE 802.3). It is followed by 10baseFL/FB/FP in 1993. Dates, of course, are often approximate, as putting a firm date on the introduction of a new technology is often impossible! If you have additions. Fiber to the home (FTTH) trials begun in Japan and France, costs were very high, application waited until development of passive optical networks. Integrated circuit (IC) PCM codecs and SLICs introduced that allow inexpensive conversion of telephone lines to digital, paving the way for fiber. The optical telegraph, invented by Claude Chappe in 1790, was the first practical telecommunications system using optical technology. Defense Department turned on ARPAnet, the internet precursor that linked the Pentagon with university labs. The optical fiber elements are typically individually coated with plastic layers and contained in a protective tube. Fiber Broadband to each subscriber, by contrast, is the only communications technology that can support decades of speed and capacity increases with no upgrades to the outdoor infrastructure. The scalability of today's optical fiber to support higher speeds is virtually unlimited, to speeds 60,000.
